Reflecting on God’s Word

Some things drop into our lives and we simply run with them. Summer vacation was like that when I was a child. There was no need and certainly no desire to organize it for the sake of efficiency. Summer was better when it just happened: bike riding and pick-up softball on the school playground behind our house and swimming at Lakeside Park and going for ice cream at dusk and catching fireflies at night and a thousand other things that come together and make up summer. There are other things, however, that drop into our lives but never go anywhere, except perhaps with a lot of prodding. School comes to mind. I never would have gone had I been given a menu of options. Having my tonsils out was another such thing, and wearing braces on my teeth, and moving into a new city when I was eight, and my grandmother dying on my twelfth birthday. I took them in stride, mostly because there was no other way to take them. Given my druthers, they never would have happened at all. I simply lived them, though, they never would have happened at all. I simply lived mostly because there was no other way to take them. Given my druthers, they never would have happened at all. I simply lived mostly because there was no other way to take them. We Remember: Ignacio Iillacuria and Companions, Jesuit Martyrs of San Salvador: 25 years ago, on this day in 1989, an elite “anti-terrorist” force notorious for its record of human rights abuses murdered Fr. Ignacio Iillacuria, rector of the University of Central America in El Salvador, five Jesuit professors, their housekeeper Elba Ramos and her 16-year-old daughter, Celina. “Those seeking a meaning for their deaths could look to the Latin American church’s option for the poor or to the Jesuits’ commitment to social justice. Indeed, they could look to the Sermon on the Mount,” says RobertEllsberg in his book, All Saints. “But the immediate context was the fratricidal war in El Salvador, which in November 1989 had reached a critical stage.” Notable Salvadoran martyrs we have written about in this column include Archbishop Oscar Romero (3/24/80) and the Four American Churchwomen (12/2/80).

Ellsberg goes on to say that Fr. Segundo Montes, one of those murdered, has spoken for all his brothers when he explained to an interviewer his decision to remain in El Salvador: “This is my country and these people are my people...The people need to have the church stay with them in these terrible times - the rich as well as the poor. The rich need to hear from us, just as do the poor. God’s grace does not leave so neither can we.”

Martyrs of the Jesuit University

“In the early morning hours of November 16, 1989, government troops forced their way into the Jesuit residence of the Central American University in San Salvador and brutally murdered six priests and two women. 75,000 others had already been killed in El Salvador’s civil war and while each death was equally tragic, these murders immediately took on special symbolic importance. Shot in the head with M16’s at close range, their brains had been blown out of their skulls. It was as if the army had wanted to wipe out the intellectual life of their country.

“The husband of one of the martyrs has turned the yard in which their bodies were found into a rose garden, which is why roses fill the center of this icon. Moving clockwise from the top, the martyrs are Ignacio Martin-Baro, Amando Lopez, Elba Ramos, Ignacio Iillacuria, Segundo Montes, Juan Roman Moreno, Celina Ramos and Janet Lopez y Lopez.

“These people were teachers, priests, peace-makers, innocent women. Their crime was that they took too seriously the Gospel and the democratic constitution of their country - documents that had become dusty through neglect. Written documents like these that preserve moral ideals soon lose their life if they are not re-animated in each generation by prophets, artists and holy fools. These martyrs were prophets who paid the ultimate price so that the ideals they cherished would not die.” - Robert Lentz from a icon card by Bridge Building Images, P.O. Box 1048, Burlington, VT 05402.

ST. MARGARET OF SCOTLAND (1046-1093), as queen, convoked a council in which she eliminated some of the ecclesiastical irregularities and reinstated certain Roman customs, such as beginning Lent on Ash Wednesday, and the observance of Sunday as a day of rest. She constructed churches, monasteries and hospices. Immediately after her death at Edinburgh Nov. 16, 1093, she was venerated as a saint, canonized in 1250, and named her patron of Scotland in 1673. She was born in Hungary, where her family was in exile while the Danish king Knute was on the English throne, but they returned to England when Edward returned to power. Later the family had to flee to Scotland because of the struggle between William of Normandy (the Conqueror) and Harold, head of the Anglo-Saxon party. In Scotland, the cruel Malcolm III was in power, and he asked for the hand of Margaret in marriage. She accepted in 1070 at the urging of her family. As Queen of Scotland, she patiently endured the rough manner of her husband and gradually turned him to a man of great virtue. Of her eight children, two were honored as saints: David and Edith (who became Queen of England with the name Matilda). ST. GERTRUDE THE GREAT (1256-1302): The great Benedictine abbey of Helfta was founded in 1234 at Rodarsdorf in Saxony, and in the course of the 13th century it produced three of the greatest female spiritual writers in the history of the Church.
Mechtild von Magdeburg, who died there; Mechtild von Hackeborn, who spent her entire life there; and Gertrude of Helfta - "THE GREAT" - who died at the same. At the age of five, Gertrude entered the Benedictine monastery, where she was educated under the care of the abbess, Gertrude of Hackeborn, sister of St. Mechtild (see Thursday). Eventually she was professed as a nun, and in 1281, St. Gertrude had her first mystical experience; and from that year her life was a continuous familiar communing with Christ, especially during the Divine Office. St. Gertrude was devoted to the mystery of the Incarnation, expressed in the Sacred Heart of Jesus and the Holy Eucharist (she promoted frequent Communion). [Two centuries later, in France, the devotion to the Sacred Heart was advanced by St. John Eudes and St. Margaret Mary Alacoque.] St. Gertrude died in the Benedictine monastery at Helfta, near Bitterfeld, in 1302. She was extended to the whole Church in 1677. St. Teresa of Avila had a great devotion to her. (S.B.)

In 1992, a new catechism, the first since 1555, was issued by the Roman Catholic Church, reaffirming many traditional tenets of the faith, but also covering problems of modern society.

+ We Remember: ST. ELIZABETH OF HUNGARY (1207-1231): Born in Hungary, the daughter of King Andrew II, Elizabeth married Louis IV of Thuringia at 14. Her husband, who had gone on Crusade, died of an epidemic 18 days before the birth of their third child, Gertrude. Left a widow when she was scarcely 20 years old, Elizabeth left the castle at Wartburg and dedicated the rest of her life to extraordi-nary works of charity. After refusing to marry a second time, she founded a hospital in honor of St. Francis of Assisi at Marburg and donned the gray habit of Franciscan tertiaries and devoted herself to the relief of the destitute, living a life of voluntary poverty until her death at 24, greatly esteemed by the people. She was canonized three years later (1235) by Pope Gregory IX, who in 1228 had canonized St. Francis of Assisi. After her funeral, Frederick II wrote to Brother Elias, the successor of St. Francis: "The venerable Elizabeth, so dear to God and of an illustrious family, illuminated the mist of this world like a morning star."

+ In 594, the death of ST. GREGORY OF TOURS. He was elected seventh bishop of Tours, in France, 200 years after the great St. Martin. Gregory's ten-volume History of the Franks is considered a superb source of early French history to this day.

+ In 1200, the death of ST. HUGH OF LINCOLN in London. A Carthusian prior and bishop of Lincoln, he rebuilt the beautiful cathedral there. He was such a revered leader and shepherd that three kings were among his pallbearers.

+ We Remember: DEDICATION OF THE CHURCHES OF ST. PETER AND ST. PAUL commemorates the dedication of the basilica of St. Peter in the Vatican in 350 and the dedication of the basilica of St. Paul in 390. The date for the celebration was already established in the 11th century. ST. PHILIP DE NERSES, a native of Greece, founded the church of St. John Eudes at Grenoble, France, of wealthy, aristocratic parents, Philip Duchesne manifested certain religious traits in her early teen years; zeal for the foreign missions, a strong attraction to religious life, a preference for ascetical practices and, above all, a deep-seated devotion to the Sacred Heart and the Blessed Sacrament. At age 18, she joined the Visitati- on nuns, but because of the outbreak of the French Revolution, the community had to disperse. Until peace was restored in France, Philip Duchesne dedicated herself to works of charity, always hoping that eventually the community would reassemble. When all efforts failed, Philippe joined the Religious of the Sacred Heart, founded by Madeleine Sophie Barat in 1800. In 1818, at age 49, Philippine Duchesne landed at New Orleans with four other religious. The bishop sent the group to St. Charles, Missouri, to establish a school. A few years later, they established an orphanage in St. Louis. There, Mother Philippine came into contact with the first Jesuits assigned to Missouri, and one of them later said that she saved the Jesuit mission from failure by sharing with them the few resources her own community had. At 72, Mother Philippine was able to realize her own dream of being a missionary to native American Indians. She went with three other sisters to open a school for Indian girls at Sugar Creek, Kansas. Unable to master the Indian language, Mother Philippine nevertheless exerted a tremendous influence by her practice of prayer. In fact, the Indians called her "The woman who prays always," and they loved and respected her. After one year, she was called back to St. Charles, where she spent the last 10 years of her life; she died peacefully and her relics are enshrined there.

+ We Remember: NERSES THE GREAT (died c. 373). The first of several Armenian kings to be a saint, the lifetime of St. Nerses was continued by his son, St. Isaac the Great. Brought up and educated at Caesarea in Cappadocia, Nerses married a princess of the Mamikonian family. After his wife’s death, he became a bishop at the court of the Armenian king, Arshak, and received holy orders. In 363 Nerses was made sixth Catholicos and came under the influence of St. Basil. In 365 he convened the first national synod at Astisht to bring better discipline and efficiency to his church. Nerses encouraged monasticism, established hospitals, and drew up canonical legislation inspired by the Greeks. He worked zealously for certain reforms which proved unpalatable to the king. When Arshak murdered his wife, Nerses condemned him and refused to attend court; he was then banished by the king. Shortly thereafter, Arshak was killed in battle with the Persians and Nerses was recalled by the even more dissolute King Pap in 369. The King made so atrocious a life that Nerses refused him entrance to the church until he mended his ways. Seeking revenge, Pap pretended pene-tration and invited Nerses to dinner, where the saint was poisoned. (B.L.)

+ ST. MECHTILDE OF HACKEBORN: A German nun and mystic, Mechtild served as a teacher, choir director, and assistant to her sister Gertrude, abbess of Helfta Abbey. She contributed to the monastery’s development as a center of spirituality. Her spiritual vision, including devotion to the Sacred Heart, spread beyond Helfta through the dispersion of Gertrude the Great’s account of her life in The Book of Special Grace. Another St. Mechtild (of Magdeburg) remembered today also became a nun at the great convent of Helfta. She professed under Abbess Gertrude of Hackeborn and was a fellow-religious of St. Mechtild of Hackeborn and St. Gertrude the Great. She is the first of the Helfta nuns known to have been favored with mystical ex- periences. Her Flowing Light of the Divinity, which describes her many visions and religious experiences, is important as one of the earli- est treatises on the spiritual life written in the vernacular (low German, subsequently translated into high German and Latin). She died in 1298. (B.E.)

+ ST. FELIX OF VALOIS (1126-1212), cofounder of the Order of the Most Holy Trinity (Trinitarians), was born of the royal family of Valois and spent the greater part of his life as a hermit, "living only to his Creator." At 70, he was joined by his disciple, St. John of Matha, in forming the new order in France to ransom Crusaders who were taken captive by the Moors of Spain and by Muslims in the Holy Land and elsewhere. There is no accurate record of the number of captives ransomed, but estimates go as high as 140,000. Felix died on Nov. 4, 1212. By 1240, the Or- der had some 600 monasteries. The cofounders were canonized in 1262 by Pope Urban IV. (P.B.D.E.)

+ We Remember: ST. EDMUND OF NORWICH (849-870) was acclaimed king by the nobles and clergy of Norfolk Christmas Day, 855, and later by Suffolk as well. The youth was said to have been virtuous, learning the Psalter by heart, and a talented and successful ruler. In the great Danish invasion of 870 Edmund was taken prisoner and savagely executed at Hornsea. Suffolk. "He expired with the name of Jesus on his lips," the chroniclers tell us, and his shrine gave its name to the Benedictine abbey and town of Bury St. Edmund’s. (ST. + We Remember: PRESENTATION OF OUR LADY (Entry of the Mother of God into the Temple): According to the apocryphal Proto-evangelium of James, which dates from the second century, Mary was presented in the temple at Jerusalem at the age of three, where she lived with other girls and the holy women who had charge of them. The Eastern Church observed this feast in the 6th century (543) in connection with the dedication of a basilica in Jerusalem in honor of the Blessed Virgin Mary (destroyed by the Persians in 614). Monasteries in southern Italy observed the Feast of the Presentation as early as the 9th century, and the date of the feast in 11th century England was Nov. 21.

Pope Gregory XI, in 1372, decreed the celebration of this feast in the Latin Rite, and a century later Pope Sixtus IV included it in the Roman Missal. The significance of this feast can be found in the fact that on this day, consecrated persons renew their vows to the Lord, in memory of the offering of Mary to the Lord's service. In 1842, the Sisters of the Holy Family were founded in New Orleans by Henriette De Lisle and Juliette Gaudin. Both African-American women, their Order was originally for blacks. They were the first Catholics to reach out to the black people in the South. In 1855, the Felician Sisters were founded in Poland by M. Sophia Trusczkowska. On this date 19 years later, they arrived in Polonia, Wisconsin, to begin their extensive work throughout the U.S.

In 1992, the Anglican Church of Australia voted to allow the ordination of women priests.

*We Remember: St. Cecilia (died c. 230), one of the most famous of martyred Roman maidens, died in Rome during a time of religious persecution. As a young girl, Cecilia fasted, prayed, and pledged her life to God. However, her father arranged a marriage to the patrician Valerian. On their wedding night Cecilia informed Valerian about her pledge, and convinced him to respect her virginity and become a Christian. She opened her house for prayer and spiritual direction, and hundreds were converted through her influence. Valerian and his brother, Tiburtius, devoted themselves to charitable works until apprehended burying the bodies of martyred Christians; when they refused to sacrifice to the gods, they were scourged and beheaded, along with Maximus, who had been so impressed with their witness to Christ that he too became a Christian. Cecilia buried the three in the cemetery of Praetextatus, and she in turn was arrested, beheaded, and buried in the cemetery of St. Callistus (where there is a picture of her dating from the 7th century). Today, her relics and those of Valerian and Tiburtius are believed to rest behind the high altar of the Basilica of St. Cecilia in Trastevere, in Rome, where in 545 Pope Vigilius celebrated Cecilia’s feast. The present basilica, constructed by Pope Paschal I (824), contains a mosaic that shows Cecilia between her husband Valerian and his brother Tiburtius. Cecilia’s name is in the first eucharistic prayer. As early as the 4th century, she was already celebrated as one of the greatest Roman martyrs. She is the patroness of music and musicians, since supposedly at her wedding she did not hear the nuptial music and sounds of merriment, but sat apart, singing to God in her heart.

In 1963, the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, first Catholic U.S. president; the following year, Sunday, Nov. 22, 1964, the first Catholic Mass said in English for a president was the memorial Mass for JFK at Holy Cross Cathedral, Boston, with Richard Cardinal Cushing as celebrant.

CHICAGO AIRPORTS CATHOLIC CHAPLAINCY Publishes Mass Intentions in the O’Hare and Midway Airport Chapel bulletins each week. Dates in 2015 are available. Requesting a Mass intention is a traditional and meaningful way to honor a deceased loved one, or to offer a thoughtful message of sympathy to the bereaved. Special intentions for the living may be requested for one who is ill, as well as to observe special occasions, such as anniversaries and birthdays, or simply in thanksgiving. “Mass Intention Offering” slips are available on the vestibule table, online at http://www.cacc.us, or call the chapel office weekdays at 773-686-2636. The Archdiocese of Chicago suggests a donation of $10.
